

1 / 3

During a Buffer Overflow attack, once the buffer space is full, what can we potentially overwrite?
(multiple choice)

ESP (Extended Stack Pointer)

correct

EBP (Extended Base Pointer)

correct

EIP (Extended Instruction Pointer)

Continue ›

2 / 3

What is the aim of spiking?

correct

To identify which part of an application is vulnerable to buffer overflows

To inject malicious code for a reverse shell

To find the offset value

◀ Back

Continue ▶

3 / 3

What step comes after controlling the EIP?

Fuzzing

correct

Finding bad characters

Creating shellcode

◀ Back

Continue ▶